1. Character Creation

Character cration guidelines.

2. Classes

Cleric, Fighter, Thief, Wizard.

3. Info

Details on the abilities, alignment, minions, monsterious, and creating NPCs.

4. Items

Gear, weapons, and armor. For additional info, see dedicated packet.

Character Creation

Get a sheet of paper, or print out a character sheet, to record all of your cracter's details.

1. Ability Scores

Choose either one of these arrays, and assign them however you like to the six stats strength, dexterity, constitution, intelligence, wisdom, and charisma.

- 13, 13, 11, 11, 8, 8
- 16, 13, 10, 8, 6, 5

1. Optional: Rolling ability scores.

If you wish, you can instead roll 3d6 seven times and use six of them to create a new array.

2. Choose a Class

There are many classes to choose from. Make sure you meet the requirements for that class. See Classes. If you are new to the game, we reccomnend fighter, thief, cleric, or wizard.

Unless you choose a Demihuman class, you are a human.

3. Determine Statistics

Make sure you have the page for your chosen class available.

1. Your HP (health points) is equal to the maximum value of your class's Health Die.
2. Your AV (attack value) is on your class's progression table.

3. Your saving throws are on your class's progression table.
4. Note class abilities and skills, and choose spells.
5. Note the bonuses, or penalties, from your ability scores. Ability
6. Your item slots. See inventory.

4. Choose Alignment

Choose whether you are Lawful, Neutral, or Chaotic. See alignment

5. Note XP and Level

Characters start at 1st level with 0 xp.

6. Money

Start with 3d6x10 cp. Buy items! Heres an easy check list.

1. Armor
2. Weapon
3. Rations
4. Holy symbol or thieves tools (if applicable)
5. Torches, rope, pole, spikes
6. Other essentials

Cleric

Requirements: None
Prime requisite: Wisdom
Health die: d6
Maximum level: 14
Armour: Any, including shields
Weapons: blunt
Languages: Alignment, Common, Ceremonial

Clerics are adventurers who have sworn to serve a deity. They are trained for battle and channel the power of their deity. Their holy doctrine forbids the use of blades or stabbing points.

1. Progression

13	600k	12	3	5	7	8	7
14	700k	12	3	5	7	8	7

2. Turn Undead

Clerics can invoke the power of their deity to repel undead monsters. To turn the undead, roll 2d6. The Dungeon Master can either tell you the HD of the monster, or consults the table themselves.

If the result is equal to or greater than the number in the table, the monster is turned. At higher levels, some undead may be automatically Turned, or Destroyed.

1. Restrictions

Excess: Rolled Hit Dice that are not sufficient to affect a monster are wasted.

Minimum effect: At least one undead monster will always be affected on a successful turning.

Mixed groups: If the undead are of different types, those with the lowest HD are affected first.

Recharge: A cleric can attempt to turn only once per turn.

2. Turning Table

3. Successful Turning

If the turning attempt succeeds, roll 2d6 again to determine the number of undead affected.

Turned undead will leave the area, if possible, and will not harm or make contact with the Cleric.

3. Divine Magic

See Magic for full details.

Holy symbol: A cleric must carry a holy symbol to use magic.

Deity disfavor: Clerics must be faithful to the tenets of their alignment, clergy, and religion. Tenets for all clerics include:

- Only using blunt weapons.
- Refusal to buy, sell, or use poisons, including alcohol.
- 10% tithe to the temple.
- Respect of all royalty.

Spell casting: Once a cleric has proven their faith (from 2nd level), the character may pray to receive spells. The power and number of spells available to a cleric are determined by the characterâ€™s level. Their spell list is found at the bottom of this section.

4. After Reaching 9th Level

A cleric may establish or build a stronghold. So long as the cleric is currently in favor with their god, a stronghold may be bought or built at half the normal price, due to the aid of the faithful.

Once a stronghold is established, the cleric will attract followers (5d6 Ã- 10 fighters of level 1â€"2). These troops are completely devoted to the cleric, having a loyalty of 12. The referee decides which proportions of followers are 1st and 2nd level and which are bowmen, infantry, etc.

2. Fighter Skills

Choose one skill. Each time you level up, choose another skill.

- Berserker: While damaged 50% or greater, -4 AV.
- Dualist: Each time you miss, gain -1 AV until you hit or the turn ends.
- Taction: +4 bonus to Stunts.
- Tough: Dismember with advantage. See Global, page 20.
- Reckless: Deal 1 damage to a non-magic weapon to add 1d4 to its damage.

3. Advanced skills

Starting at 5th level, you can choose advanced skills instead.

- Beef Cake: +3 item slots. +2 healing when bandaged.
- Bounty Hunter: +3 damage with blunt weapons.
- Commander: +2 starting loyalty and minion maximum.
- Dual-Wielding: When holding two weapons: +d6 damage.
- Forge Master: You can do Forging. See Advanced Downtime.
- Sweep Attack: Make one melee attack against many monsters: Make one roll, AV + number of monsters. Must be using a two-handed weapon.

- Monstrous: d12 health die. Become monstrous.
- Multiattack: Make 2 attacks, or an attack + a stunt.
- Negotiator: +1 to reaction rolls. When in combat after a reactoin roll, enemies have a -1 moral.
- Spell Sword: Learn a 1st level wizard spell. Inscribing a sword or great sword takes 1 week + 500 p. Once per day, cast the spell while holding the sword.

4. Stronghold

Any time a fighter wishes (and has sufficient money), they can build a castle or stronghold and control the surrounding lands.

5. After 9th Level

A fighter is granted the title Baron. Their land is then known as a Barony.

Thief

Requirements: None
Prime requisite: Dexterity
health die: d4
Maximum level: 14
Armour: Leather
Weapons: Any
Languages: Alignment, Common, Thieves Cant

Thieves make range of a unique set of skills useful both on the edges of society, and in the dungeon. They survive by deception and stealth.

1. Progression

14	760k	12	8	9	7	10	8

2. Thieves Cant

Thieves know a general code of conduct, including unique gestures, signs, and code words. This language allows them to communicate, while sounding like innocent small talk to the unfamiliar.

3. Thief Skills

Thieves are highly talented, and capable of many skills. See the skill progression table opposite.

- Climb sheer surfaces (CS): A roll is required for each 100â€™ to be climbed. If the roll fails, the thief falls at the halfway point, suffering fall damage. (1d6 per 10â€™)
- Check Doors (CD): A thief gets a bonus to check doors See Adventure, page 9.
- Open locks (OL): Requires thievesâ€™ tools. A thief can only try this skill once per lock. If the roll fails, the thief may not try the same lock again before gaining an experience level.
- Uncanny Stealth (US): A thief can attempt to hide motionless in shadows, or sneak past enemies unnoticed.
- Pick pockets (PP): If the victim is above 5th level, the thiefâ€™s roll is penalised by 5% for every level above 5th. There is always at least a 1% chance of failure. A roll of more than twice the percentage is required for the theft to be unnoticed.

Checking skills with a percent chance: roll d%. If it is the listed value or less, the skill succeeds.

2. Back-Stab

When attacking a bad opponet, a Thief deals double damage. Thievs of 6th level or higher deal triple damage.

4. Read Languages

A thief of 4th level or higher can decipher critical portions of non-magical text in any language (including dead languages and basic codes) with 80% probability. If the roll does not succeed, the thief may not try to read that particular text again before gaining an experience level.

1. Scroll Use

A thief of 10th level or higher can cast arcane spells from scrolls. There is a 10% chance of error: the spell does not function as expected and creates an unusual or deleterious effect.

5. After Reaching 9th Level

A thief can establish a thief den, attracting 2d6 apprentices of 1st level. These thieves will serve the character with some reliability; however, should any be arrested or killed, the PC will not be able to attract apprentices to replace them. A successful thief might use these followers to start a Thievesâ€™ Guild.

Alignment

Beneath the surface of everyday life, two primeval forces mingle. Their servants favor either the cosmic order, or the advent of a new one. Some find themselves neutrally or unaligned, choosing for their own ends, or for the end of balance.

1. Magic

Magic affects creatures differently depending on alignment. Divine spellcastes need to be especially aware of their alignment.

2. Alignment Language

Creatures automatically recognize a certain set of gestures, signs, and code words, pertaining to their alignment. This allows creatures of common alignment a measure of communication.

Creatures of a different alignment are likely to recognize an alignment language being spoken, but will not understand its content.

3. Revealing Alignment

Players must reveal their alignment to the dungeon master, but are not required to reveal to each other.

4. Role Playing Alignment

If the character acts too far out of their alignment, the referee may require them to change their alignment and suffer a penalty.

This book contains info on character creation. For items and down time, see their respective pamphlets. For game procedures, see the rulebook.

Procedure for creating NPCs..

minions

Minions are NPCs including human and demihumans hired to assist on an adventure, trained animals, and even monsters.

1. Limit

Each character can be a boss to a finite number of minions, determined by Charisma (see page 4).

1. Level

Minions must be lower level and have fewer hit dice than their boss

2. Duties

Most minions are not mindless slaves. If abused minions might desert, mutiny, betray, or slander their boss.

3. Item slots

A minion has 5 item slots. Some monsters, have different amounts of item slots.

2. Loyalty

The starting loyalty of a hireling is indicated by charisma (See page 4).

Monsters start with 4 loyalty.

Animals start with loyalty equal to their morale.

1. Loyalty Check

Roll 2d6. The check succeeds if the result is equal to or less than the loyalty.

2. Peril

Before engaging in an unussually perilous task, a hireling will check loyalty. If they fail, they refuse the task.

If they take damage during the task, they loose one loyalty.

3. Evaluation

Minions evaluate loyalty during clean up.

4. Betrayal

Minions with one or less loyalty will betray their boss.

3. Hirelings

ÂHirelings are human or demihuman minions that seek employment from the party

1. Upkeep

Hirelings must be paid at the start of each session. They come with a starting wage. When a hireling levels up, their wage doubles.

Hirelings will accept a 50% reduction in wages in exchange for a half share of the treasure.

2. Recruitment

Hirelings are hired in town. Some hirelings may seek employment on their own They can also be recruited directly. See Downtime page 7.

3. Items

The hiring PC must provide for food and lodging while traveling, as well as for any new adventuring gear, weapons, or mounts.

4. Animals

1. Upkeep

Animals do not accept money or treasure. However they do need to be fed. Their upkeep cost is 1 cp per HD.

2. Recruitment

Some animals can be bought. See Gear. Wild animals can be tamed. See Downtime, page 10.

3. Monsters

Occasionally, monsters may be swayed to join the party. Monsters may demand food, treasure, a share of the treasure, or something else as payment.

Monsters with loyalty of 9 or higher will not demand payment.

Monstrous

Monstrous characters face additional challenges:

- They are not welcome in urban areas unless accompanied by a human, elf, or dwarf.
- They can not employ human hirelings.
- They do not automatically know the common language.
- They have a -2 to reaction rolls with non-monsters.
- When in sunlight, they have a +1 to AC, and AV.

NPC

Write each of the following details on an index card, and give it to your Dungeon Master.

- Name, and a title if desired.
- Picture. Can be anything, portrait, symbol, etc.
- A manorism or visible detail.
- A connection to your character.
- A connection to any other character.
- A secret.

Demihuman Player Handbook

This book contains info on character creation, and demihuman classes. For expert classes, basic classes, items and downtime, see their respective pamphlets. For game procedures, see the rulebook.

1. links

1. Character Creation

Character cration guidelines.

2. Classes

Animalkin, dwarf, elf, halfling, kobold.

3. Info

Details on the abilities, alignment, minions, monsterious, and creating NPCs.

4. Items

Gear, weapons, and armor. For additional info, see dedicated packet.

Character Creation

Get a sheet of paper, or print out a character sheet, to record all of your cracter's details.

1. Ability Scores

Choose either one of these arrays, and assign them however you like to the six stats strength, dexterity, constitution, intelligence, wisdom, and charisma.

- 13, 13, 11, 11, 8, 8
- 16, 13, 10, 8, 6, 5

1. Optional: Rolling ability scores.

If you wish, you can instead roll 3d6 seven times and use six of them to create a new array.

2. Choose a Class

There are many classes to choose from. Make sure you meet the requirements for that class. See Classes. If you are new to the game, we reccomnend fighter, thief, cleric, or wizard.

Unless you choose a Demihuman class, you are a human.

3. Determine Statistics

Make sure you have the page for your chosen class available.

1. Your HP (health points) is equal to the maximum value of your class's Health Die.
2. Your AV (attack value) is on your class's progression table.

3. Your saving throws are on your class's progression table.
4. Note class abilities and skills, and choose spells.
5. Note the bonuses, or penalties, from your ability scores. Ability
6. Your item slots. See inventory.

4. Choose Alignment

Alignment

Beneath the surface of everyday life, two primeval forces mingle. Their servants favor either the cosmic order, or the advent of a new one. Some find themselves neutrally or unaligned, choosing for their own ends, or for the end of balance.

1. Magic

Magic affects creatures differently depending on alignment. Divine spellcastes need to be especially aware of their alignment.

2. Alignment Language

Creatures automatically recognize a certain set of gestures, signs, and code words, pertaining to their alignment. This allows creatures of common alignment a measure of communication.

Creatures of a different alignment are likely to recognize an alignment language being spoken, but will not understand its content.

3. Revealing Alignment

Players must reveal their alignment to the dungeon master, but are not required to reveal to each other.

4. Role Playing Alignment

If the character acts too far out of their alignment, the referee may require them to change their alignment and suffer a penalty.

6. NPC

Procedure for creating NPCs..

minions

Minions are NPCs including human and demihumans hired to assist on an adventure, trained animals, and even monsters.

1. Limit

Each character can be a boss to a finite number of minions, determined by Charisma (see page 4).

1. Level

Minions must be lower level and have fewer hit dice than their boss

2. Duties

Most minions are not mindless slaves. If abused minions might desert, mutiny, betray, or slander their boss.

3. Item slots

A minion has 5 item slots. Some monsters, have different amounts of item slots.

2. Loyalty

The starting loyalty of a hireling is indicated by charisma (See page 4).

Monsters start with 4 loyalty.

Animals start with loyalty equal to their morale.

1. Loyalty Check

Roll 2d6. The check succeeds if the result is equal to or less than the loyalty.

2. Peril

Before engaging in an unussually perilous task, a hireling will check loyalty. If they fail, they refuse the task.

If they take damage during the task, they loose one loyalty.

3. Evaluation

Minions evaluate loyalty during clean up.

4. Betrayal

Minions with one or less loyalty will betray their boss.

3. Hirelings

ÂHirelings are human or demihuman minions that seek employment from the party

1. Upkeep

Hirelings must be paid at the start of each session. They come with a starting wage. When a hireling levels up, their wage doubles.

Hirelings will accept a 50% reduction in wages in exchange for a half share of the treasure.

2. Recruitment

Hirelings are hired in town. Some hirelings may seek employment on their own They can also be recruited directly. See Downtime page 7.

3. Items

The hiring PC must provide for food and lodging while traveling, as well as for any new adventuring gear, weapons, or mounts.

4. Animals

1. Upkeep

Animals do not accept money or treasure. However they do need to be fed. Their upkeep cost is 1 cp per HD.

2. Recruitment

Some animals can be bought. See Gear. Wild animals can be tamed. See Downtime, page 10.

3. Monsters

Occasionally, monsters may be swayed to join the party. Monsters may demand food, treasure, a share of the treasure, or something else as payment.

Monsters with loyalty of 9 or higher will not demand payment.

Monstrous

Monstrous characters face additional challenges:

- They are not welcome in urban areas unless accompanied by a human, elf, or dwarf.
- They can not employ human hirelings.
- They do not automatically know the common language.
- They have a -2 to reaction rolls with non-monsters.
- When in sunlight, they have a +1 to AC, and AV.

NPC

Write each of the following details on an index card, and give it to your Dungeon Master.

- Name, and a title if desired.
- Picture. Can be anything, portrait, symbol, etc.
- A manorism or visible detail.
- A connection to your character.
- A connection to any other character.
- A secret.

Character Creation

Get a sheet of paper, or print out a character sheet, to record all of your cracter's details.

1. Ability Scores

Choose either one of these arrays, and assign them however you like to the six stats strength, dexterity, constitution, intelligence, wisdom, and charisma.

- 13, 13, 11, 11, 8, 8
- 16, 13, 10, 8, 6, 5

1. Optional: Rolling ability scores.

If you wish, you can instead roll 3d6 seven times and use six of them to create a new array.

2. Choose a Class

There are many classes to choose from. Make sure you meet the requirements for that class. See Classes. If you are new to the game, we reccomnend fighter, thief, cleric, or wizard.

Unless you choose a Demihuman class, you are a human.

3. Determine Statistics

Make sure you have the page for your chosen class available.

1. Your HP (health points) is equal to the maximum value of your class's Health Die.
2. Your AV (attack value) is on your class's progression table.

3. Your saving throws are on your class's progression table.
4. Note class abilities and skills, and choose spells.
5. Note the bonuses, or penalties, from your ability scores. Ability

4. Identification

Druids can identify plants, animals and clean water.

5. Shape Change

At 2nd level, a druid gains the ability to change into animals.

1. Shapes Known

A druid can know as many shapes as their level. Learning a knew shape requires three observations, which must be on unique individuals, and on separate days.

2. Observation

Observation takes one turn and requires the druid to be unnoticed.

3. Transforming

- Can only be used once per day.
- Lasts a number of turns equal to the druidâ€™s level.
- Follows the same rules as spell casting.
- Must be holding the bone or hide of the animal.
- The animal must have hit dice equal to or less than the druidâ€™s level.
- If a druid has lost hit points, they regain 1d4 hit points per level upon changing into an animal.
- All equipment carried by the druid is absorbed into the animal form and reappears when the druid changes back.

6. Natureâ€™s Favor

Due to their ability to forage, druids do not need to consume rations when traveling.

7. Pass Without Trace

From 3rd level, a druid can pass through natural environments without leaving any tracks. A druid is also able to move through overgrown areas at normal speed and without impediment

8. Charm Immunity

Druids of 7th level and above are immune to charms.

9. Reaching 12th Level and Above

There can only be nine druids of 12th level. When a druid has enough experience to reach 12th level, they must challenge an existing 12th level druid. The character only advances to 12th level if the other druid is defeated. Such challenges may take any form that is agreed by both parties, including combat (which need not be fatal). Likewise, there can only be three druids of 13th level and a single druid (known as the arch-druid) of 14th level.

Druids who attain 12th level or above may have a bhold magically integrated into a natural setting.

2d12 beings will join the ranger as followers. The nature of these followers is up to the referee.

Alignment

Beneath the surface of everyday life, two primeval forces mingle. Their servants favor either the cosmic order, or the advent of a new one. Some find themselves neutrally or unaligned, choosing for their own ends, or for the end of balance.

1. Magic

Magic affects creatures differently depending on alignment. Divine spellcastes need to be especially aware of their alignment.

2. Alignment Language

Creatures automatically recognize a certain set of gestures, signs, and code words, pertaining to their alignment. This allows creatures of common alignment a measure of communication.

Creatures of a different alignment are likely to recognize an alignment language being spoken, but will not understand its content.

3. Revealing Alignment

Players must reveal their alignment to the dungeon master, but are not required to reveal to each other.

4. Role Playing Alignment

If the character acts too far out of their alignment, the referee may require them to change their alignment and suffer a penalty.

Player Handbook

This book contains info on character creation. For items and down time, see their respective pamphlets. For game procedures, see the rulebook.

6. NPC

Procedure for creating NPCs..

minions

Minions are NPCs including human and demihumans hired to assist on an adventure, trained animals, and even monsters.

1. Limit

Each character can be a boss to a finite number of minions, determined by Charisma (see page 4).

1. Level

Minions must be lower level and have fewer hit dice than their boss

2. Duties

Most minions are not mindless slaves. If abused minions might desert, mutiny, betray, or slander their boss.

3. Item slots

A minion has 5 item slots. Some monsters, have different amounts of item slots.

2. Loyalty

The starting loyalty of a hireling is indicated by charisma (See page 4).

Monsters start with 4 loyalty.

Animals start with loyalty equal to their morale.

1. Loyalty Check

Roll 2d6. The check succeeds if the result is equal to or less than the loyalty.

2. Peril

Before engaging in an unussually perilous task, a hireling will check loyalty. If they fail, they refuse the task.

If they take damage during the task, they loose one loyalty.

3. Evaluation

Minions evaluate loyalty during clean up.

4. Betrayal

Minions with one or less loyalty will betray their boss.

3. Hirelings

ÂHirelings are human or demihuman minions that seek employment from the party

1. Upkeep

Hirelings must be paid at the start of each session. They come with a starting wage. When a hireling levels up, their wage doubles.

Hirelings will accept a 50% reduction in wages in exchange for a half share of the treasure.

2. Recruitment

Hirelings are hired in town. Some hirelings may seek employment on their own They can also be recruited directly. See Downtime page 7.

3. Items

The hiring PC must provide for food and lodging while traveling, as well as for any new adventuring gear, weapons, or mounts.

4. Animals

1. Upkeep

Animals do not accept money or treasure. However they do need to be fed. Their upkeep cost is 1 cp per HD.

2. Recruitment

Some animals can be bought. See Gear. Wild animals can be tamed. See Downtime, page 10.

3. Monsters

Occasionally, monsters may be swayed to join the party. Monsters may demand food, treasure, a share of the treasure, or something else as payment.

Monsters with loyalty of 9 or higher will not demand payment.

Monstrous

Monstrous characters face additional challenges:

- They are not welcome in urban areas unless accompanied by a human, elf, or dwarf.
- They can not employ human hirelings.
- They do not automatically know the common language.

Alignment

Beneath the surface of everyday life, two primeval forces mingle. Their servants favor either the cosmic order, or the advent of a new one. Some find themselves neutrally or unaligned, choosing for their own ends, or for the end of balance.

1. Magic

Magic affects creatures differently depending on alignment. Divine spellcastes need to be especially aware of their alignment.

2. Alignment Language

Creatures automatically recognize a certain set of gestures, signs, and code words, pertaining to their alignment. This allows creatures of common alignment a measure of communication.

Creatures of a different alignment are likely to recognize an alignment language being spoken, but will not understand its content.

3. Revealing Alignment

Players must reveal their alignment to the dungeon master, but are not required to reveal to each other.

4. Role Playing Alignment

If the character acts too far out of their alignment, the referee may require them to change their alignment and suffer a penalty.

Player Handbook

This book contains info on character creation. For items and down time, see their respective pamphlets. For game procedures, see the rulebook.

3. Minions

Play additional characters as minions.

4. Monsterous

Rules for spellcasting.

5. Monsterous

Some classes are or become monsterous.

6. NPC

Procedure for creating NPCs..

minions

Minions are NPCs including human and demihumans hired to assist on an adventure, trained animals, and even monsters.

1. Limit

Each character can be a boss to a finite number of minions, determined by Charisma (see page 4).

1. Level

Minions must be lower level and have fewer hit dice than their boss

2. Duties

Most minions are not mindless slaves. If abused minions might desert, mutiny, betray, or slander their boss.

3. Item slots

A minion has 5 item slots. Some monsters, have different amounts of item slots.

2. Loyalty

The starting loyalty of a hireling is indicated by charisma (See page 4).

Monsters start with 4 loyalty.

Animals start with loyalty equal to their morale.

1. Loyalty Check

Roll 2d6. The check succeeds if the result is equal to or less than the loyalty.

2. Peril

Before engaging in an unussually perilous task, a hireling will check loyalty. If they fail, they refuse the task.

If they take damage during the task, they loose one loyalty.

3. Evaluation

Minions evaluate loyalty during clean up.

4. Betrayal

Minions with one or less loyalty will betray their boss.

3. Hirelings

ÂHirelings are human or demihuman minions that seek employment from the party

1. Upkeep

Hirelings must be paid at the start of each session. They come with a starting wage. When a hireling levels up, their wage doubles.

Hirelings will accept a 50% reduction in wages in exchange for a half share of the treasure.

2. Recruitment

Hirelings are hired in town. Some hirelings may seek employment on their own They can also be recruited directly. See Downtime page 7.

3. Items

The hiring PC must provide for food and lodging while traveling, as well as for any new adventuring gear, weapons, or mounts.

4. Animals

1. Upkeep

Animals do not accept money or treasure. However they do need to be fed. Their upkeep cost is 1 cp per HD.

2. Recruitment

Some animals can be bought. See Gear. Wild animals can be tamed. See Downtime, page 10.

3. Monsters

Occasionally, monsters may be swayed to join the party. Monsters may demand food, treasure, a share of the treasure, or something else as payment.

Monsters with loyalty of 9 or higher will not demand payment.

Monstrous

Monstrous characters face additional challenges:

- They are not welcome in urban areas unless accompanied by a human, elf, or dwarf.
- They can not employ human hirelings.
- They do not automatically know the common language.
- They have a -2 to reaction rolls with non-monsters.
- When in sunlight, they have a +1 to AC, and AV.

NPC

Write each of the following details on an index card, and give it to your Dungeon Master.

- Name, and a title if desired.
- Picture. Can be anything, portrait, symbol, etc.
- A manorism or visible detail.
- A connection to your character.

Downtime

During town returning characters can preform one downtime action. If they owe service, they must preform that instead of downtime.

These are presented in catagories

Second level characters of certain classes can preform advanced downtime

1. Service

Preforming service at the temple has no direct benifite.

Divine spell-casters who choose to preform service volunterially might be able to forgive diety disfavor. The chance is equal to their level, plus their wisdom, out of 100.

Except for the first time doing service, chaotic aligned characters can hire a goon to do service for them. The first time it costs 100 cp. Each time after costs 1% more, compounding. Diety disfavor can not be forgiven this way.

2. City Life

1. Baking

Help at the local bakery. Heal 1d6; if you are ar full HP, prevent the next 2 damage that would be dealt to you this session.

2. Healing

A stay in the temple costs 100 cp, or one week of service. It completely heals you, cures mundane illnesses, has a 5-in-6 chance of curing mundane toxins, and a 2-in-6 chance of removing minor cureses.

3. Blessed Equipment

Loose any amount of XP upto the sum of all six ability scores. Add that much XP to an item. When that item has 333 XP, it becomes a +1 magical item. When it has 3,333, it becomes a +2 item.

4. Selling

Try to get a better buy on your treasure.

Each downtime, you can find buyers for treasure equal to 500 cp times your level. If a single object is more valuable than that, you must work for several downtimes to sell it.

When you sell the item, roll d% on the table, and add your charisma score.

d%	Sale
<20	Robbed! 0%
20-29	Low ball: 75%
30-39	Low ball: 90%
40-89	110%
90-100	140%
>100	Swindler! 200%

If you get a low ball, you can refuse to sell.

If you get robbed, ask your Dungeon Master for a lead on the thieves.

5. Gambling

Play a number of games of Dragon Ante equal to thrice your level.

You might also hear rumors. Make two charisma checks. For each you succeed, ask the Dungeon Master for a rumor.

Dragon Ante

The buy in for each game is 1 cp. Roll a 2d10 and see the result.

If you are a thief, add your level to the roll. If you roll two ones, you still go to jail, and the fine is doubled.

2d10	Result
2	Jail! Pay a 50 cp fine and preform a week of service. If you are unable to pay, loose a hand instead.
3-4	Loose horribly: pay 25 cp.
5-12	Loose your buy in
13	Win 5 cp
14	win the opportunity to play twice more!
15-16	Win 10 cp
17	Win 25 cp, anger a local
18	Win 50 cp, get in a bar fight: 1d6 damage
19	Hot Hand! Win 100 cp. Get asked to leave for the week
20	Challenge the red dragon! |

Challenging the red dragon

Roll a d12. On a 1, you must pay 50 cp, or preform a week of service. On a 2-11, you win 5 cp. On a 12, win 300 cp, or...

Choose to challenge Tiamat: Roll 6d6. Choose any number to reroll. Repeat this three more times. If you have six of a kind, or a 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, you win 6 gp, 6 sp, and 6 cp.

3. Mentor

1. Finding a mentor

Training, employement, and some magical research requires a mentor. The target number is equal to:

- 50
- plus your charisma score
- minus 10 times the level of the mentor you seek
- plus however many additional sp you spend looking

Roll d%. If it is less than or equal to the target number, you found a mentor!

Make an NPC card for them, and add their level.

2. Employment

You can work form them. You can only work for a mentor of a higher level than you.

Your mentor pays you a number of cp equal to your Lv, times their Lv, times 20. Then make a Charisma Check. If you suceed, premanently increase your wage with this mentor by 20%.

3. Training

You can only train under a mentor of the same class and a higher level than you. traing costs 10 cp, times the level of your mentor.

Spend upto 100 times your Lv in cp. Gain that much experience. If you spend 20% more, each of your minions gains half that much experience.

4. Minions

1. Recruiting

Go to upto three different establishments, or the same establishment twice. Roll on the table, adding you reaction modifier (see Character page 4). For each you roll well on, ask the Dungeon Master for a minion from that establishment.

Forum

d12	Forum	Port	Tavern	Sewers	Guild Hall
<=1	Grammar corrected	Loose 4d6 cp	-1 on next roll	1 Monster	Nothing
2-3	1 human	Nothing	Nothing	2 Kobold	Nothing
4-8	Nothing	Nothing	Play Dragon Ante. +1 on next roll if you win.	1 human	Nothing
9-10	1 human	1 human	1 human	Nothing	Nothing
11	1 human	1 human	1 human	Nothing	1 demihuman of choice
12	1 human	1 human	1 human	1d6 damage!	2 demihuman of choice
>=13	Lv 1 human	Lv 2 human	+4 on next roll	4d6 damage, nonleathal	Lv 3 demihuman of choice

2. Team-building

Costs 10 cp per minion. Each participating minion has a 2-in-6 chance of gaining 1 loyalty, to a maximum of 8.

3. Taming

Mundane animals can be tamed by anyone. Druids, and Elves, can tame magical animals, and tame mundane animals twice as fast.

Each week, make two charisma, and two wisdom checks. (Druids and Elves make three of each). Once you gain a number of successes equal to 3 plus the HD of the animal, they becomes tamed. Then you can begin training it.

Each of the following skills costs a certain amount of successes. Once trained, the animal will automatically succeed at tasks related to the skill.

Skill	Successes
Bravory	2
Attacking	5
Ridable	1
Guarding	3
Tracking	3
Fetching	4

5. Questing

More adventuring!

Choose a challenge to face. Each round, youâ€™ll make a melee attack against it, and then it will make a melee attack against you. You can flee at anytime.

Multipule characters can team up. Each character gets to make an attack, and the challange will make only one attack, chooseing a target at random.

If you slay the challenge, you gain its reward.

Fighter and Knights take half damage.

1. Sewers

HP: 1d8, AC: 9 AV: 19, Dam: 1 Reward: 2d12 cp + 10 xp + a rumor.

2. Outlands

HP: 3d8, AC: 8 AV: 17, Dam: 1d4

HP: 4d8, AC: 5

AV: 14, Dam: 2d6 Reward: 4d6 sp + 50 xp

3. Den of a Lesser Dragon

HP: 10d8, AC: 0 AV: 8, Dam: All save Blast for 8d6 (recharge 5-6), or 2d6 Reward: 2000 gp + 5000 xp + remove a diety disfavor.

Advanced Downtime

These downtime activies are only available to certain classes, and only to 2nd level characters.

1. creating magic Items

Only magic-users of 9th level or higher can create magic items.

The player describes in detail the item that they wish. The Dungeon Master decides whether this is possible and, if so, what materials are required.

1. Restrictions

Divine spell casters May only create items that they are able to use themselves. Arcane spell casters may create any item except those that may only be used by divine spell casters.

2. Materials

Creating magic items requires rare components such as expensive gems or ingredients from rare monsters.

3. Cost and Time

If duplicating the effects of a spell, construction costs one week and 5g, per level of the mimicked spell, multiplied by the number of uses.

The Dungeon Master must use discretion for other items. As a general rule, items should cost from 100 to 1000gp and from 4 to 52 weeks to complete.

2. Crime

Only Thieves, Acrobats, Animalkin, Kobold and Warlocks can pursue crime.

Thieves have advantage on ability checks made for crime.

1. Heist

A heist is a single large crime or scheme. Get a note card to keep track of your progress on the heist.

2. Tilling a Vacancy

Scoping out a new heist takes one week.

1. Write the location and the target on your heist card.
2. Roll a number of d12 equal to your level. This is the value of the heist in sp.
3. Roll a d6. This is the potential of the heist.
4. Roll 2d4. This is the heat of the heist.
5. Write each ability score: strength, dexterity, constitution, intellegance, wisdom, charism.

Boredom

If your up for a challenge, the heat of the heist becomes 10, and the value increases tenfold.

3. Risk

Whenever you take a risk, cross off an ability score from your hiest card. If none remain, take your pick instead. Check that ability. If you fail, there is an X-in-8 chance of trouble where x is the the heat of the heist.

After the first trouble, the hiest looses two potential, gains one heat. And, you must pay a fine equal to twice the value of the heist, and preform a week of service.

After the second trouble, you end the heist, pay a fine of four times the value, and must preform two weeks of service.

Loosing a Glove

If you are unable to pay the fine, you instead have a hand cut off.

4. Actions

Each week, you can take one action on an existing heist.

Bite the Blow

If the hiest has at least one potential, take a risk to get paid 20% of the value. Reduce the potential by one.

Fence

When a heist has zero potential, take a risk to end the heist, and get paid 100% the value.

Till a Rounder

Invite another character to the heist. Each week, including this one, they can use their downtime to take one action.

Pay the Prigs

Add an NPC accompliceâ€™s name to the heist card. Each accomplice takes a 10% cut, but gives a -2 bonus on the ability check for risk.

Tide the Vacancy

Increase the potential by one.

Tide the Heat

Spend a week carousing. Reduce the heat by one, to a minimum of three.

Grease the Hamlet

Pay 1 gp. Take a risk to automatically succeed the next three risks.

3. Devotion

Only divine magic-users can preform devotion. The first time they do, they must describe the ritual they use for their devotion. If it is satisfactory, they will recieve a vision.

Then, the ritual can be repeated. Pay upto your level in gp. Certain events happen when you reach a total amount of gp devoted.

gp	Event
2	+1 HP
3	Your bandages heal +2

5	Restore a diety disfavor
7	Bestow a blessing on a willing player character: They can memorize and cast one 1st level spell from your class of your choice, but most follow the tenets of your religion.
11	Recive a quest. No more devotion until it is complete.
13	Increase an ability score by one
17	Restore a diety disfavor
19	Choose one spell. It has a 1-in-6 chance to be remembered after casting. If there are dice in the spell, increase them one size (d4 to d6 to d8) to a maximum of a d12.
23	Remove all your devotion, and destroy your ritual. When you begin anew, the prime number costs of devotion start from one prime higher (3,5,7; 5,7,11; etc).

4. Embezzlement

Only Clerics and Princesses can engage in embezzlement.

1. Vacancy

You're able to find 20 times your level cp to embezzle.

In addition, taxes, unclaimed inheritance, and similar transactions from this or last session can be embezzled.

2. Laundry

Roll a d6 for each 100 cp.

- 1: Loose the money, and risk getting caught (see below).
- 2: Loose the money, but donâ€™t take any risk.
- 3-6: Safely sequester the money into your own account.

3. Risk

Check your intellegence.

- Success Safely sequester 150 cp into your account.
- Failure: Caught! Preform a week of service for each time you have ever been caught embezzling.

5. Forging

Only Dwarves can forge. Choose one option.

1. Honing

Costs 10 cp. A honed weapon deals an additional d4 damage. When rolling a 4 on that bonus, the honing fades.

2. Repair

Costs 10 cp. Heal 1 damage from an item.

3. Construction

You can make any weapon, chainmail, or platemail. See weapons and armor. Get a note card to track your progress. Calculate the total points of the weapon being constructed, based on its damage, properties, and enchantments:

Properties	Point
Chainmail	10
Platemail	20
d4 or d6	1
d8	4
d10 or d12	7
slow, two-handed	1
blunt, charge, melee	3
splash, thrown	5

Properties	Point
fired, fragile	7
+1 enchantment	12
Flaming enchantment	20
Warning enchantment	16

Each week costs 5 cp for normal weapons, and 200 cp for magic weapons. Progress 1d6 points each week.

Up to two Dwaves can work on the same weapon at a time.

6. hibernate

Only animalkin can rest this deeply.

1. Healing

Heal 2d6, or have a 2-in-6 chance to cure a minor disease or neutralize a minor poison.

2. Dreams

Gain one rumor from a dream. 1-in-10 chance to have to battle a monster in the dream dimension. Same rules as downtime questing.

HP: Lvd4, AC: 10 AV: 19, Dam: 2 Reward: 200 xp + a strange item.

7. Magical Research

Only arcane magic-users can preform magical research.

1. Adding to a spell book

Arcane magic-users can only add to their own book, and only spells on their spell list. See .....

2. Assimilating spells

All spells must be identified with Read Magic, and takes one week per spell level.

Spell Scrolls

Costs 1 gp per spell level. Destroys the scroll

Success rate: (80 + your intelligence score)%.

Captured Spell Books

Costs 3 gp per spell level Success rate: (50 + your intelligence score)%.

Mentoring

You can learn a spell from a mentor. See finding a mentor. In addition to the mentorâ€™s wages, studies cost 5 sp and one week, per spell level.

3. Creating New Spells

The player describes in detail the spell they wish to create. The referee decides if the spell can be created.

The spell must be of a level the character can cast. Research takes two weeks and 100gp per spell level.

Magic

Spellcasting

Strange powers are had by some characters. They utilize this powers using a mystical pattern of trance, which is produced using memorize gestures and words. Though, this power is limited by memory.

There are two types of magic-users.

Arcane Magic: is accessed through esoteric study and a understanding of the world.

Divine Magic: is granted by a higher power, the favor of which must be maintained.

1. Memory

Casting a spell causes it to be forgotten. Being interrupted while casting will also cause the spell to be forgotten.

Magic-using classes have a magic progression table which shows a number for each of the five levels of spells. This is how many spells can be memorized at a time.

A single spell can be memorized multiple times, creating multiple instances / uses.

Memorization takes one hour, and requires a full night of sleep.

2. Arcane Magic

When arcane magic-users memorize, the chose spells from their spell book. See below

They must choose whether to memorize the normal or reversed version of a spell.

3. Divine Magic

Divine magic-users pray to receive memory of the spell. They must maintain favor with their deity. See below.

They may chose whether to reverse it at the time of casting, by preforming the spell backwards.

4. Limitations

Spells are cast by reciting a special words and gestures. There are several limitations on these actions:

- Freedom: A magic-user must be able to move and speak freely.
- Line of Sight: The target of a spell must be visible to the caster.
- Time: Spell-casting takes or one round. If interrupted, the spell is wasted.
- Movement: The spell caster must be standing still during the casting.
- Quiet: Casting creates quiet noise. See Global, p9.
- Resistance: When the target of a spell is unwilling, they may attempt a save against spells. If the spell targets a touched creature, instead the caster must successfully attack them. Some spells specify differently.
- Cumulative effects: Multiple spells cannot be used to increase the same ability.
- Range: Spell effects are limited to close and touch, unless specified otherwise. See Global page 8.

5. Concentration

Various actions will break concentration.

â€¢ Attacking or being attacked â€¢ Taking damage â€¢ Using magic items â€¢ Failing a saving throw â€¢ Sleeping â€¢ Being surprised

Full concentration also imposes status and requires closing ones eyes.

1. Breaking Concentration

If a spell requires concentration, breaking concentration will end the spell early. This deals damage equal to the spells level to the caster, or twice that if full concentration.

6. Charms

Some spells are described as charmed. These spells have discrete gestures and signs, that can be preformed in conversation without recognition from an untrained eye.

Some creatures, such as fay, are immune to charms.

7. Deity Disfavor

Divine magic-users must maintain favor with their god.

1. Incurring disfavor

When a divine magic-user goes against their tenants, or casts a spell against their alignment, the Dungeon Master may send them to court.

2. Alignment

A divine spell-casterâ€™s alignment should be the same as their deity.

Chaos favors reversed spells, and Law favors unreversed. Neutral will choose their favor when memorizing.

Casting the wrong orientation of spell will deal 1 damage to the caster, and risk disfavor if done without cause.

Spells without a reversed version are not subject to this.

3. Court

After potentially incurring disfavor (i.e. after combat has finished), a divine magic-user will be psychically transported to court. They have two options:

Plead Guilty: 1-in-6 chance of not being disfavored. Loose any Merit.

Plead not-guilty: Roll 3d6. If thereâ€™s triples, or the total is less than or equal to your level: not disfavored.

4. Penalties

Normally, divine magic-users receive any spell they ask for from their spell list. With disfavor, thereâ€™s a chance theyâ€™ll receive a random spell, or no spell.

Disfavors Random None 1 2-in-6 - 2 4-in-6 1-in-6 3 4-in-6 2-in-6 â‰¥4 - 6-in-6

With thhree or more disfavors, magic-users roll d4s instead of d6s during natural healing.

If disfavored while outside, there is a 1-in-10 chance to be struck by lightening.

5. Forgiveness

Clerics can forgive disfavor through service to a temple, see Downtime p9.

Disfavor can also be absolved through special quests, rituals, and offerings.

6. Major Disfavor

An especially bad deed may incur a major disfavor. This counts as three disfavors, and can only be removed by a special quest.

8. Spell Books

Arcane magic-users begin the game with a spell book in addition to their other gear. The spell book includes one spell from their spell list.

Each level up, they may add another spell from their spell list.

To add additional spells, see Downtime.

1. Item Slots

Spell books take up 1 item slot, and can contain up to five spells.

To carry more spells, additional spell books must be purchased.

2. Replacing / Replicating

First a blank spell book must be acquired.

Replicating spells from oneâ€™s own spell book takes 50 cp and one week per 5 levels of spells.

Replacing a spell that was once memorized takes 100 cp and one week per 1 level of spell.

9. Spell Lists

Each spell-casting class has a limited number of spells it can learn and use. If a spell isnâ€™t on your spell list, you canâ€™t learn that spell, nor use spell scrolls of that spell.

The same spell may be different levels for different casting classes.

Spells in alphabetical order.

1. Animal Friendship

The caster touches an animal, while holding a piece of food. The animal must be

- Neutral alignment
- HD < the casterâ€™s level,
- Find the food attractive.

If the animal fails a magic save: the animal becomes instantly tamed, and bound to the caster as though by a Lesser Charm. However, the animal will make frequent moral checks.

Minion: After one day, the caster must take the animal as a minion, or end the spell.

Higher Levels: If the caster is of 4th level or higher, the spell can instead target all close animals of a species, with 1 HD or fewer.

2. Animate Dead

This spell turns the bones or bodies of dead creatures into undead skeletons or zombies:

- Obedient: They obey the casterâ€™s commands. They have a loyalty of 12.

- Special abilities: They are unable to use any special abilities that they possessed in life.
- Number: The spell animates a number of Hit Dice of zombies or skeletons equal to the casterâ€™s level.
- Minion: After one day, the caster must either take the undead as minions, or end the spell

3. Anti-Magic Shell

An anti-magic barrier is created around the caster. Itâ€™s a 10â€™ radius sphere. It moves with the caster. The caster must concentrate to maintain it.

Blocks magic: No spells or spell effects can pass through this barrier, whether from inside or outside.

1. Hyper-magic Sphere

Instead of blocking magic, the sphere has two affects on creatures inside:

1. Spell Saves: Magic saves are made with disdavantage.
2. 1st level spells: have a 4-in-6 chance of being remembered when cast.

4. Barkskin

A touched creature has their skin hardened like bark. They get a -1 bonus to AC, and saves.

Lasts until fatigued.

5. Bless

Allies who are not yet in battle gain a +1 bonus to damage rolls, a +1 bonus to loyalty, and a -1 bonus to AV.

Lasts until fatigued.

6. Blight

Enemies not yet in battle incurs -1 penalty to damage rolls, a -1 penalty to morale, and a +1 penalty to AV. A magic save is allowed to resist the blight.

7. Charge

The caster commands a subject to perform or avoid a specific action, or charges them with a quest.

Examples: Bringing a specific item to the caster, eating or drinking without restraint, keeping a certain fact secret, Rescuing a prisoner, killing a specific monster.

Impossible or deadly tasks: The prescribed Charge must not be impossible or directly deadlyâ€"if such a Charge is cast, it affects the caster, instead.

Avoidance: The subject must follow the stipulated course of action or suffer gradually increasing (and eventually fatal) penalties determined by the referee.

1. Remove Charge

Can dispel an active Charge spell and any incurred penalties. If the caster of the Charge to be nullified is higher level than the character casting Remove Charge, there is a chance of the spell failing. The probability is 5% per level the caster is below.

8. Clairvoyance

The caster gains the ability to see through the eyes of other living creatures.

- Establish Connection: To establish a connection with a creature, the caster must fully concentrate for one turn.
- After this turn: The visual perceptions of the last connected creature are relayed to the caster. The caster is blind to their own vision.

Restrictions: The spell is blocked by a thin layer of lead or by rock of 2â€™ thick or greater. The ability lasts until fatigued twice.

9. Cloudkill

A poisonous fog streams from the casterâ€™s fingertips, filling a zone within sight.

- Movement: Each turn, the fog moves to an adjacent zone, driven by the wind.
- Sinking: Because the fog is heavier than air, it sinks to the lowest level of the land, even pouring down den or sink hole openings.
- Damage: All creatures in contact with the vapors take 1 damage per round.
- Creatures with <5 HD: Must also make a physical save (once per round) or die.

10. Commune

The caster calls upon divine powers in order to seek knowledge. The communion lasts three turns, where the spell caster must be fully concentrating.

The caster may ask three questions per casting. Once per year, the caster may instead ask six questions.

Each question receives a simple â€œyesâ€• or â€œnoâ€• answer.

Commune may only be cast once per month.

11. Confusion

This spell causes creatures become charmed for 1 turn. Choose a distant zone. 3d6 subjects become charmed. Subjects are selected weakest first, and then randomly.

- Subjects of 2 HD or greater: May make a magic save each round to resist the spellâ€™s effect, acting normally each round they succeed.
- Subjects of 2 HD or lower: May not make a save.

Behavior: Roll on the following table separately for each affected subject each round to determine how that subject acts that round:

TABLE 2d6 Behavior 2-5 Behave normally 6-8 No action 9-12 Attack other charmed creatures

12. Conjure Elemental

A 16 HD elemental is summoned from an elemental plane of the casterâ€™s choice (air, earth, fire, water) to do the casterâ€™s bidding.

- Materials: The summons requires a large volume of the appropriate element.
- Full Concentration: Is required to command an elemental.

- Dismissing: While control over the elemental is maintained, the caster may dismiss it at any time, sending it back to its plane of origin.
- Disruption: If the casterâ€™s concentration is disturbed, the command over the elemental ends. It is, henceforth, a free willed entity and will immediately try to kill the caster and any who get in its way.

Restrictions: The caster may summon at most one elemental from each plane in a single month.

Dispelling: A conjured elemental may be dispelled by dispel magic or dispel evil.

13. Contact Higher Plane

The caster has can ask a powerful, otherworldly being for advice and knowledge on any subject.

Plane: The caster must choose which plane of existence to contact. Higher planes are home to more powerful and knowledgeable beings. The spell lasts one turn per level of the plane, and requires full concentration.

Questions: The caster may then ask a number of yes/no questions equal to the number of the plane contacted.

Answers: For each question asked, there is a chance of the contacted being not knowing the answer, or of answering untruthfully.

Restrictions: Contact may be cast at most once per month.

Insanity: Contact has a chance of causing insanity. Insane characters are incapable of action or communication. the recovery time is a number of weeks equal to the number of the plane. For every level of the caster above 10, this chance is reduced by 5%.

TABLE Plane Donâ€™t Know Truth Insanity 3rd 75% 50% 5% 4th 70% 55% 10% 5th 65% 60% 15% 6th 60% 65% 20% 7th 50% 70% 25% 8th 40% 75% 30% 9th 30% 80% 35% 10th 20% 85% 40% 11th 10% 90% 45% 12th 5% 95% 50%

14. Continual Light

This spell has three usages:

1. Conjuring light: An invisible orb appears, which casts light. The magical light is daylight. The spell may be cast upon an object, in which case, the light moves with the object.
2. Blinding a creature: By casting the spell upon its eyes. If the target fails a magic save, it is blinded. A blind creature cannot attack.
3. Cancelling darkness: Continual light may cancel a continual darkness spell.

1. Continual Darkness

Creates sphere of magical darkness filling a zone, preventing both normal sight and infravision.

Like continual light, it may alternatively be used to blind creatures or to dispel a continual light spell.

15. Control Weather

By fully concentrating the caster can control the weather in a quarter mile radius. When concentration is broken, weather returns to normal.

This spell only functions outdoors.

1. Control Earth

Earth (but not stone) within within a quarter mile, that the caster can see, is rearranged as the caster wishes.

Movement rate: The caster can move earth in the area at up to 60â€™ per turn.

Excavations: The range of the spell also extends downwards, allowing excavations to be made

16. Create Food

The caster reaches into an empty sack. From it, they magically produce food sufficient for twelve humans and twelve mounts for one day

Higher level casters: If the caster is higher than 8th level, food sufficient for an additional 12 humans and mounts is produced for each level beyond 8th.

1. Destroy Food

The same amount of food within the zone crumbles to dust.

17. Create Water

The caster touches a large stone surface, such as a wall or boulder. A magical font appears from that spot. It produces approximately 50 gallons of waterâ€"enough to sustain twelve humans and twelve mounts for one day.

Higher level casters: If the caster is higher than 8th level, water sufficient for an additional twelve humans and mounts is produced for each level beyond 8th.

1. Destroy Water

The spell instead creates a magical drain, which destroys water. It remains for one day or until it destroys 50 gallons of water. Water elemental die instantly when in contact with the drain.

18. Cure Disease

Lasts until fatigued.

21. Detect Magic

Enchanted objects, areas, and creatures glow while in the same zone as the caster.

Lasts until fatigued.

22. Dimension Door

A touched creature is instantly transferred to another location up to 360â€™ away. The destination may be selected in two ways:

Known location: A location, within 360â€™, known to the caster.

An unknown location: Specified by a series of offsets (e.g. 120â€™ north, 160â€™ east, 80â€™ up) totaling not more than 360â€™.

Restrictions: The following apply:

- If the destination is occupied By a solid body, the spell fails.
- If the target is unwilling it may make a magic save to resist the teleportation.

23. Disintegrate

The material form of a single, non-magical, distant or closer, creature or object is instantly and permanently destroyed.

If a creature is targeted: It may make a physical save to resist disintegration.

Examples of objects: The following might be targeted: a tree, a ship, a 1 square section of wall.

24. Dispel Evil

This spell has three uses:

- Ward: By fully concentrating for up to one turn, enchanted or undead monsters that come close to the caster may be banished or destroyed. Each monster may make a magic save to avoid banishment or destruction. If a monsterâ€™s save succeeds, it flees the affected area.
- Target single monster: Instantly banish or destroy a single enchanted or undead monster, thatâ€™s close. The monster may make a magic save (with a â€"2 penalty) to avoid banishment or destruction. If the monsterâ€™s save succeeds, it flees the affected area.
- Dispel curse: Instantly dispel the hold that a cursed item has over a being.

25. Dispel Magic

One magical effect is ended.

If the level of the caster of the effect to be dispelled is higher than the level of the caster of dispel magic, there is a 5% chance per level difference that the attempt to dispel will fail.

Magic items are unaffected, unless the caster is of 9th level or higher.

- Vision: Within the area of the swarm is obscured.
- Creatures of 2 HD or less: Are driven away, if caught within the swarm.
- Concentration: The caster can fully concentrate on the spell, for up to a day.

Restrictions: The spell has no effect if cast underground.

45. Infravision

A touched creature is able to see in the dark with infravision. See Global page 12.

Lasts one day.

46. Invisible Stalker

An invisible stalker (see Monster page 16) is summoned to the casterâ€™s presence and magically bound to perform a mission of the casterâ€™s choosing.

- Wording: The caster must be careful with the wording of the mission. Invisible stalkers will follow the letter of the command while twisting the intent.
- Duration: The creature is bound to attempt the mission until it succeeds or is destroyed.
- Banishing: The spell Dispel Evil will banish an invisible stalker, ending the spell.

47. Invisibility

The caster or another creature or object becomes invisible:

If cast on a creature: Any gear the subject is carrying is also rendered invisible. Items dropped or put down by an invisible creature become visible. If the subject attacks or casts a spell, the invisibility is broken, ending the spell.

If cast on an object: The invisibility is permanent.

Light sources: made invisible (either as part of a creatureâ€™s gear or as an individual object), the light it casts is unaffected.

48. Invisibility 10â€™ Radius

49. A touched creature gains an aura of invisibility. When the spell is cast, creatures within 10â€™ of the subject also become invisible.

- Area: The 10â€™ radius area of the spellâ€™s effect moves with the chosen creature.
- Exiting the area: Subjects that move more than 10â€™ away from the chosen creature become visible.
- Entering the area: Creatures that move into the area after the spell is cast do not become invisible.
- Restriction: The invisibility follows the same restrictions and behavior as an Invisibility spell.

50. Knock

55. Lightning Bolt

A powerful stroke of electrical energy extends from the casterâ€™s fingers. It is 180â€™ long and 5â€™ wide. Creatures caught in the lightning bolt suffer 1d6 damage per level of the caster. A successful save versus spells prevents half of the damage.

Bounce: If the lightning bolt hits a solid barrier before its full length is reached, it is reflected and continues to its full length.

56. Locate Monster

Same as Locate Object but can locate any creature, magical or non-magical.

57. Locate Object

Until fatigued, the caster can sense the direction (but not distance) of an object, so long as it is within a quater mile.

This spell has two uses:

- General class: (e.g. a stairway, an altar). The nearest object of that type is located.
- Specific object: The caster must clearly visualize in all aspects.

Restrictions: This spell cannot be used to locate creatures.

58. Locate Plant or Animal

Same as Locate Object but locates a non-magical, non-human, plant or animal, of 4 HD or less.

59. Locate Person

Same as Locate Object but locates a person, of 4 HD or less.

60. Massmorph

A force of human-sized creatures within a 240â€™ diameter area is veiled by illusion to appear as a copse of trees or orchard.

Moving through: Once the illusion is in place, even creatures moving among the veiled subjects are deceived.

Subjects who leave the affected area: Cease to be veiled.

Dismissing: The caster may dismiss the illusion in its entirety at any time.

61. Magic Missile

This spell conjures a glowing dart of energy shoots at a target of the casterâ€™s choice. The missile hits unerringly (no attack roll), and can hit a distant target. The missile inflicts 1d6+1 damage.

Higher level casters: May conjure more missiles. They may be directed at a the same or different targets.

Lv Number of Missiles 1 1 2-5 2 6-10 3 â‰¥11 5

Ends when fatigued, or when the last duplicate is destroyed.

63. Neutralize Poison

This spell has two uses:

- Creatures: Neutralize the effects of poison on a touched creature. A creature who has died from poisoning can be revived, if neutralize poison is cast within one turn.
- Items: Remove poison from a touched item.

1. Cause Poison

The touched creature becomes poisoned unless they save versus death. Each turn, theyâ€™re tapped, and take 1d4 damage, until they die or are cured.

64. Obscuring Mist

A cloud of misty vapor emanates from the ground, filling the air close to the caster. The mist is 10â€™ high and blocks vision, including infravision.

The caster can see faintly through the mist.

Lasts one turn per level. Winds reduce the spellâ€™s duration by three quarters

1. Clear Mist

The area around the caster has mist pushed out by a gentle breeze, enabling clear vision, while close to the caster..

Lasts until fatigued.

65. Pass-Wall

The caster touches solid stone. A 5â€™ diameter hole is temporarily opened, forming a passage-way up to 10â€™ deep.

After a shift, the passage seals, without a trace.

66. Part Water

The caster creates a path 10â€™ wide and a maximum of 120â€™ long through water, such as a pond, lake, or other body. Lasts six turns. The caster can dismiss the spellâ€™s effect before the duration ends.

67. Phantasmal Force

A visual illusion of the casterâ€™s choosing manifests in a 20â€™ cube area, within sight. Three types of illusions may be created:

- An illusionary monster: That can be directed to attack. The monster has an Armour Class of 9 and will vanish if hit in combat.
- An illusionary attack: For example, an avalanche, a falling ceiling, a magic missile, etc. Targets who save versus spells are unaffected.
- A scene: Either changing the appearance of the affected area or creating the appearance of something new. The scene disappears if touched.

Restrictions: The following apply:

- Full concentration
- Illusionary monsters or attacks: May appear to be harmful but no real damage is ever inflicted. A character who appears to die actually falls unconscious, a character turned to stone will actually be paralyzed, and so on. Such effects last for 1d4 turns.

68. Polymorph Others

A creature is changed into another type of creature, as chosen by the caster:

- HD: The spell fails if the new HD is more than twice the subjectâ€™s HD.
- Damage: The subject retains the same amount of damage.

- Abilities: The subject truly becomes the new form: all special abilities are acquired, along with behavioral patterns, tendencies, and intelligence.
- Specific individuals: The spell cannot be used to duplicate a specific individual.
- Reversion: If the subject dies, it returns to its original form.

69. Polymorph Self

The caster transforms themselves into another being.

- HD: The new form may not have higher Hit Dice than the casterâ€™s level.
- Stats: The caster retains their own intelligence, hit points, saving throws, and AV.
- Physical capabilities: Of the new form (e.g. strength, physical attack forms, modes of movement) are acquired.
- Non-physical special abilities: (e.g. immunities, breath weapons, spell casting) are not acquired.
- Casting spells: While polymorphed, the caster is unable to cast spells.
- Specific individuals: The spell cannot be used to duplicate a specific individual.
- Reversion: If the caster dies while polymorphed, they return to their original form

Lasts until fatigued twice.

If the caster is of at least 10th level, they may choose to have the spell never end.

70. Predict Weather

The caster gains accurate knowledge of the weather over the next 12 hours, within a number of miles equal to their level.

Projected Image

An illusory duplicate of the caster appears within range. Lasts for six turns.

- Duplicate: The image is an exact duplicate of the caster that can only be differentiated by touch.
- Subsequent spells cast: Appear to originate from the image. (Targets must still be visible to the caster, however.)
- Spells and missiles: The image appears unaffected by spells or missile weapons.
- Melee or touch: If the image is touched or hit in melee, it disappears.
- Range: The image must remain distant or closer to the caster.

71. Protection from Chaos

Wards the caster from attacks by chaotic creatures, as follows:

- 1 bonus to saving throws against attacks or special abilities.
- 1 bonus to AC when being attacked.

Lasts until fatigued.

1. Protection from Law

Provides the same wards, but against lawful creatures.

72. Protection from Chaos 10â€™ Radius

Provides the same ward as Protection from Chaos to all creatures within 10â€™ of the caster.

Lasts until fatigued.

1. Protection from Law 10â€™ Radius

Provides the same wards, but against lawful creatures.

A creature gains complete immunity to small, non-magical missiles (e.g. no protection is granted against hurled boulders or enchanted arrows)

Lasts until fatigued.

74. Protection from Poison

A touched creature gains a ward against poisons. Any poisons that are actively affecting the subject are neutralized.

Venom: Complete immunity is granted against venomous attacks of monsters (e.g. bites) and poisonous gases (including those conjured by magic).

Breath Weapons: The subject gains a +4 bonus to saving throws against poisonous breath weapons.

Lasts until fatigued.

75. Purify Food and Water

Makes spoiled, rotten, poisonous, or otherwise contaminated food and water pure and suitable for eating and drinking. One of the following may be affected:

- Drink: 6 quarts.
- Rations: One ration
- Unpreserved food: A quantity sufficient for 12 human-sized beings.

76. Raise Dead

This spell has two uses:

- Restore life: To a recently deceased person. The caster can raise an unburied corpse that has been dead for no longer than four days per level of the caster above 7th. See Global page 22 for the effects resurrection.
- Destroy undead: A single undead monster is destroyed.

1. Finger of Death

Directs a ray of deadly magic at a single target. If the target fails a saving throw versus death, it dies instantly.

77. Read Languages

The caster may understand any written language, including coded messages, maps, and other written instructions. This spell does not grant any ability to speak unknown language.

Lasts until fatigued.

1. Remove Language

Causes one close target to loose the ability to speak or understand language.

78. Read Magic

For one turn, the caster can decipher magical inscriptions or runes, as follows:

Scrolls: The magical script of a scroll of arcane spells can be understood. The caster is then able to activate the scroll at any time in the future.

Spell books: A spell book written by another arcane spell caster can be deciphered.

- nscriptions: Runes or magical words can be understood.
- eading again: Once the caster has read a magical inscription using Read Magic, they are thereafter able to read that particular writing without recourse to the use of this spell.

79. Reincarnation

A dead character is returned to life in a new physical form that manifests in the presence of the caster. The characterâ€™s new body is not necessarily the same as the original; it is determined by rolling on the Reincarnated Class table. The roll indicates either a character class or a monster:

Character class: The character is of experience level 1d6 lower than they were in life.

Monster: The type should be deter mined by the referee. The tables opposite may be used, or the referee may create their own tables. Monsters cannot gain experience or advance in level.

1. Death Spell

Choose a point within 240â€™. Up to 4d8 Hit Dice of creatures within a 3 square radius must save versus death or die, instantly.

Restrictions: Undead and creatures with >7 HD are unaffected.

80. Remove Curse

Remove curse instantaneously removes one curse from a touched creature. It may allow a character to discard a cursed magic item.

Curse

Places a deleterious effect upon a touched creature or object.

The exact form and effects of the curse are determined by the caster. Maximum possible effects include:

- A â€"2 penalty to saving throws.
- A +4 penalty to AV or AC.

- Reducing an ability score by 50%
- Unable to put down the item.

Multiple curses: May afflict a creature, as long as each has a different effect.

81. Remove Fear

- he creature touched is calmed and purged of fear. Magically induced fear is also dispelled.
- asts until fatigued.

1. Cause Fear

Will cause a chosen creature to flee unless it saves versus spells.

Lasts until fatigued.

82. Resist Fire

All creatures are protected from fire, as follows:

- Normal heat: Unharmed by non-magical heat or fire.
- Save bonus: Gain a +2 bonus to all saving throws versus fire-based magical or breath attacks.
- Fire-based damage: Is reduced by 1 point per damage die rolled.

1. Resist Cold

Protects from cold and ice instead of fire and heat.

83. Shadow Hound

A dog made of black smoke appears before the caster. It obeys all spoken orders with absolute obedience until it is destroyed.

The dog dissappers when fatigued.

84. Shield

Shield creates an invisible field of force that protects the caster for two turns.

Against missile attacks: The casterâ€™s AC is 2.

Against other attacks: The casterâ€™s AC is 4.

Against Magic: Breath attacks and magic that allow a save for half damage, instead deal no damage with a successful save.

Against Magic Missile: Shield will completely prevent Magic Missile.

85. Silence

Choose a point. A 15â€™ radius area is rendered silent. Conversation and spell casting are impossible. Noise from outside the area can be heard by those within it.

Silence may be cast upon a creature, which saves versus spells. If the save fails, the area of silence moves with the creature. If the save succeeds, the spellâ€™s effect remains stationaryâ€"the creature may move out of it.

Lasts until fatigued twice.

1. Noise

The area is instead filled with magical noise, only heard by those within it. Conversation is impossible. Noise from outside the area can not be heard from within. Spells can be cast if the caster first succeeds a save versus spells.

86. Sleep

A sleep spell causes a magical slumber for 4d4 turns. The spell may target either:

- A single creature with 4 HD,
- A total of 2d8 HD of creatures of 4 HD or lower each.

Undead are unaffected. Targets do not get a save versus spells.

When targeting multiple creatures, sleep targets creatures with the least HD are first. Rolled HD not sufficient to affect a creature are wasted.

Creatures enchanted by this spell are helpless and can be killed instantly with a bladed weapon. Slapping or wounding awakens an affected creature.

87. Snake Charm

One or more snakes are rendered non-hostile, rearing up and swaying to and fro, but not attacking.

The spell affects snakes whose total HD do not exceed the casterâ€™s level. e.g a 7th level caster can affect 7 HD of snakes: equal seven 1 HD snakes, or two 3 HD snakes and one 1 HD snake, etc.

Duration: When cast on snakes that are already attacking, the spell lasts for 1d4+1 rounds. Otherwise, it lasts for 1d4+1 turns.

88. Speak with Animals

The caster gains the ability to speak with animals.

This spell doesnâ€™t make animals any more friendly or cooperative than normal.

The caster can ask questions, or even for small favors.

Lasts until fatigued

89. Speak with Dead

Same as Speak with Animals but enables speech with with corpses and undead. They answer as they would in life.

90. Speak with Plants

Same as Speak with Animals but enables speech with with plants, including monstrous plants.

91. Speak with Stones

Same as Speak with Animals but enables speech with with stones, and earth elementals.

92. Summon Animals

Normal animals within 500â€™ are summoned to the casterâ€™s aid. The caster may choose to limit the summons to creatures of specific species.

- Restrictions: Insects, arachnids, and other bugs are not summoned. Magical creatures are not summoned.
- Number of animals: A number of animals of total Hit Dice equal to the casterâ€™s level will respond to the summons.
- Small animals: Normal, small animals (e.g. mice, sparrows, squirrels, etc.) are treated as one tenth of a HD.

Summoned creatures: Behave as follows:

- Arrival: They will come to the casterâ€™s location as fast as they can.
- Comprehension: They understand the casterâ€™s words while the spell lasts.
- Aid: They will aid the caster in whatever way they can. If the caster is being attacked: The summoned animals will attack the enemy, only fleeing if they fail a morale check.

Once an animal flees: The spell is broken for that animal.

Lasts until fatigued.

93. Sticks to Snakes

2d8 normal sticks are miraculously transformed into snakes that follow the casterâ€™s orders. When killed or the spell ends, they revert to sticks.

Poison: There is a 50% chance of the snakes being poisonous.

Lasts until fatigued.

1. Snakes to Sticks

2d8 HD of snakes HD 4 or less are turned into sticks.

Cancels Sticks to Snakes.

Lasts until fatigued.

94. Stone to Flesh

This spell transforms stone into living flesh. It is especially useful for restoring life to a petrified creature and its equipment to its normal state.

1. Flesh to Stone

Turns one creature into a statue, including all gear and any items currently held. A saving throw versus paralysis is permitted to resist the transformation

95. Striking

One weapon is enchanted to deal an additional 1d6 damage, and becomes a magical weapon.

Lasts until fatigued.

If the caster is of 7th level or greater, it deals an additional 2d6 damage instead.

96. Telekinesis

The caster concentrates for up to six rounds. During that time, they are able to mentally move objects or creatures within a long distance.

- Weight: Up to 2 item slots, or 50 lb, per level of the caster may be moved at once.
- Movement: The target may be moved up to 2 squares per round, in whatever direction the caster wishes

1. Telepathy

Grants the caster the ability to perceive and understand the thoughts of other creatures.

When the spell begins, the caster is assaulted by the thoughts of all creatures distant or closer. They are incomprehensible, but reveal the location of the creature.

By fully concentrating on single creature, the caster can perceive and understand that creatures thoughts.

The thoughts of magical creatures may be dangerous.

Lasts one turn per level

Obstructions: The ability to perceive thoughts is obstructed by a thin layer of lead or by rock of 2â€™ thick or greater.

97. Teleport

A touched creature disappears and reappears at a location of the casterâ€™s choosing, including its gear

Destination: May be at any distance, but must be known to the caster. The destination must be an open space at ground level. (It is not possible to intentionally teleport the subject into mid-air or into solid matter.)

Risk: There is a risk, when teleporting, of accidentally arriving above or below ground level. The chance of a successful teleportation depends on the casterâ€™s knowledge of the destination (see right). Roll d% and consult the table

Know. of Dest. Ground Level Too High Too Low Scant 01â€“50 51â€“75 76â€“00 Medium 01â€“80 81â€“90 91â€“00 Exact 01â€“95 96â€“99 0

- Ground level: The subject appears at the desired destination.

- Too high: The subject appears 1d10Ã-10â€™ above the intended destination. Should this location already be occupied by solid matter, the subject is instantly killed. Otherwise, the subject falls from a height.
- Too low: The subject appears in the ground and is killed instantly.

Knowledge of destination: The casterâ€™s knowledge of the destination is rated as follows:

- Scant: A location that the caster has visited once or twice, has seen by magical scrying, or has heard of from descriptions.
- Moderate: A location that the caster has visited often or has studied via scrying for several weeks.
- Exact: A location that the caster has made a detailed study of, in person

1. Tree Shape

The caster takes on the form of a living or dead tree. The tree form is completely realistic, even to close inspection.

While in this form, the caster can perceive the surroundings with their normal senses.

The caster may end the spell at will, returning to their normal form.

98. Ventriloquism

The caster may make their voice appear to come from another location or source (e.g. a statue or animal).

Lasts until fatigued.

99. Wall of Fire

100. An immobile, opaque curtain of fire springs into existence. It remains as long as the caster fully concentrates.

- Size: The wall can be any size, shape, and dimensions the caster desires, up to 1,200 sq. ft. The wall may not appears where objects are.
- Monsters with <4 HD: Cannot pass the wall of flames.
- Monsters with â‰¥4 HD: Take 1d6 hit points of damage when they pass through the wall. The wall deals double damage to undead creatures or creatures that use cold or are accustomed to cold.

1. Wall of Ice

An immobile, translucent, wall of ice springs into existence. Functions the same as wall of fire with the following changes:

- Damage: extra damage is dealt to creatures that use fire or are accustomed to fire.
- Concentration: The wall does not require concentration, instead it melts partly after two shifts, and completely after three, unless it is in a cold area.

101. Wall of Stone

A wall of solid rock appears.

Size: The wall may be of whatever shape the caster desires and is of 1,000 cubic feet in volume. (For example, a 2â€™ thick wall, 50â€™ long and 10â€™ high.)

Location: The wall must rest upon a solid surface and may not be evoked so that it appears where objects are.

1. Wall of Air

The wall functions the same as the wall of stone, but is made of an invisible air current. It lasts until fatigued twice.

102. Warp Wood

Wooden objects of the casterâ€™s choice warp and become useless. One small object is affected per level of the caster. Or, one large objects may also be targeted.

Magical objects: That are targeted have a chance of being unaffected.

Held Objects: Creatures may save versus spells to prevent their held objects from being warped.

103. Water Breathing

A touched creature can breathe water freely by means of this spell.

The spell does not affect the subjectâ€™s ability to breathe air. No additional proficiency at swimming is granted

Lasts one day.

1. Air Breathing

Allows a subject to breath air. No additional walking ability is granted.

104. Water Breathing 15â€™ Radius

Same as Water Breathing, but affects the caster, and all creatures a within 15â€™.

1. Air Breathing 15â€™ Radius

Same as Air Breathing, but affects the caster, and all creatures a within 15â€™.

105. Web

Web conjures a many-layered mass of strong, sticky threads, blocking one square.

The web has an AC of 9, and 10 HP.

Entanglement: Creatures caught within a web become entangled among the gluey fibres. Entangled creatures are status, but can make attacks against the web.

Flammable: The strands of the web are flammable and can be destroyed by fire in two rounds. All creatures caught within flaming webs suffer 1d6 damage from the flames.

106. Wizard Lock

A wizard lock spell magically locks a touched door, gate, or any item that has a lock or latch.

Bypassing: The magical lock is permanent but may be temporarily bypassed as follows:

- Password: The caster may set a password at the time of casting. Speaking the password disables the lock for one round.
- A Knock spell: Disables the lock for one round.

- Higher level casters: Any magic-using character who is at least 3 levels higher than the caster of the wizard lock may pass through unimpeded.

107. Wizard Eye

One of the casters eyes pops harmlessly out of their head. It becomes transparent, nearly invisible and begins to fly.

- Movement: The eye is mentally directed by the caster. It can be moves up to 120â€™ per turn, and up to 240â€™ from the caster. Solid barriers block passage, but it can pass through a hole or space as small as 1 inch in diameter
- Seeing through the eye: By concentrating, the caster can see through the eye, but becomes blind to their own vision.
- Types of vision: The magical eye grants both normal vision and infravision. See Global page 12.

When the caster becomes fatigued, the eye floats slowly to the ground. If not placed in the casters head within 1 turn, the eye is destroyed.

Schemes

You can think of a scheme as a sub-game, or as a phase the conversation goes through.

1. Town: Prepare for adventure, make characters, and buy supplies.
2. Travel: Travel a small overworld to a dungeon.
3. Explore: Delve into a dungeon, in search of treasure.
4. Combat: Fight your way out if you have to.
5. Clean Up: End the session by handle experience, splitting treasure, hosting funerals, and other loose ends.
6. Challenge: Overcome a large obstacle by succeeding many checks.
7. Negotiation: Persuade a powerful NPC.

1. Appendix

1. Additional Notes: Comments on the rules.
2. West Marches: Comment on a style of play.

Town

The game often starts slowly as people gather, are late, loose character sheets, etc. Town is this pedantic meander towards playing the real game. To officiate the process, here is the check list:

1. Checklist

- Everyone has a character sheet.
- Returning characters heal completely, and do downtime
- Make sure the party has torches, rations, and other essentials
- Hire minions (if 2nd level)

When everything is in order, begin travel

2. Shopping

Every town will have the basic items available. Some towns may have additional shops. Ask your Dungeon Master.

3. Minions

If there is a character of 2nd level or greater, 1d4 human hirelings will seek employment. If the total level of the party is 15 or greater, 2d6 2nd level hirelings will seek employment.

4. Downtime

The first time in town per session, returning characters get one downtime. See .....

Characters who owe service must preform it before pursing other options.

5. Goals

Each session, the players may agree to set one goal for the party. If the goal has already been completed in the past, or is not difficult enough, the Dungeon Master may reject it.

Completing a goal is a score. See Experience.

1. Examples

- Kill the bear with the scarred eye.
- Get to the third level of the dungeon.
- Rescue a particular prisoner.
- Recover a particular treasure.

Travel

Significant locations are represented by points. Routes between them are represented by paths.

1. Paths

You can move from one point to the next by paying a cost. There are three types:

- Safe Path: This path cost 1 ration per person to travel.
- Risky Path: This path costs 1 ration per person to travel, and has a chance of random encounter.
- Toll Path: This path has a price in silver to travel.

2. Points

There are three types of point:

- Soft: Small feature which may be explored, e.g. an entrance to a cave.
- Hard: Feature which must be explored e.g. a narrow pass in a mountain range.
- Civ: Option to either town, clean up, or (so long as you aren't notorious) pass by.

3. Starvation

If the party runs out of rations, they can forage: Any number of characters roll a d6. On a 5, they find one ration. On a 6, the find two. On a 1-4, they take 1d6 damage.

In dangerous areas, you might have to forage with disadvantage.

Exploration

This is the main scheme, and where you should expect to spend most of your time

1. Procedure

1. Listen
2. Open door
3. Encounter
4. Mapping
5. Searching (optional)
6. Repeat

2. Listening

Listening at a door or corridor can reveal what lies beyond. Roll a d6, and add the bonus from your wisdom score (Some classes, like thieves, have additional bonuses). On a result of six or more, the dungeon master will reveal sounds you are able to hear.

3. Opening Doors

When opening a door, check your strength. If you fail, the door makes a loud sound. Otherwise, the door opens silently.

Only a player at the front of the marching order can open doors; opening a door implies moving to the front.

1. Notes

Doors not held open will swing silently shut during a shift.

Magical doors need special conditions to be opened, and canâ€™t be picked, or broken.

Physically destroying a door is an action, requires appropriate tools, and makes loud noise.

2. Approach Silently

If there is not a door, a player can check their dexterity to approach silently.

4. Movement

1. Marching Order

While moving through narrow doors and halls, movement is restricted. The marching order is decided by the players. In general, only the front and the back are significant.

2. Distance

If nothing else ends the turn, moving through three zones (i.e. three rooms), is a turn (see below). By moving quickly through a familiar area, you can move up to nine zones instead.

5. Encounters

1. Surprise

When the players enter a room while hidden, they surprise any monsters in the room, and have an advantage.

2. Reaction

The dungeon master might ask for a reaction modifier to determine the monsters reaction. Use the highest modifier among players in the front.

3. Decision to Evade

When two groups encounter one another, one or both may decide to evade the other, or one group may decide to purse the evading group.

If both choose to evade, nothing happens.

If one chooses to evade, and is not pursed, nothing happens.

If one chooses to evade, and is pursed, the chance of successfully evading is 3-in-6. If they fail, begin combat

If one group is hidden from the other and chooses to evade, they succeed automatically, and without alerting them.

If one group is surprised, they are unable to evade.

4. Mapping

Once the encounter (if any) is settled, players are able to observe the room for long enough to add to their map.

5. Searching

Very little treasure will be obvious at first glance.
Searching:

- Reveals all non-obvious features, such as traps.
- Will always reveal everything it can.
- Takes a minimum of three people per zone.
- Is a turn.

6. Rest

Taking a turn to rest removes fatigue. Ignore the fatigue hazard while resting.

6. Turns

A turn represents roughly 10 minutes of game time. Each turn, the dungeon master will check for hazards.

A combat, resting, and searching take a turn. Depending on how complex, a disarming a trap or solving a puzzle may be a turn. A particularly long conversation may be a turn. Walking for a long enough period is a turn (see above).

1. Hazards

Different environments will have different odds, but generally, there's 1-in-6 chance of each hazard. Some areas may have more or less wandering monsters, some areas may have additional hazards, etc.

The dungeon master should knock on the table to indicate the hazard.

2. Burn

Torches burn out, and lanterns need fresh oil.

3. Fatigue

Become fatigued. Anyone already fatigued takes 1d4 damage.

4. Shift

Traps reset, doors swing close, and other aspects of the dungeon are triggered.

5. Wandering Monsters

In dangerous or unstable areas, monsters may begin hunting you.

7. Fleeing the Dungeon

once a party beings to flee the dungeon, they can not stop until theyâ€™re out.

each round, move to an adjacent zone. Then one character must take 1d4 damage.

Combat

1. First Round

During the first round, if one side is surprised, they are bad and don't act that round.

2. Initiative

At the start of each round, the dungeon master and the player each roll a d6. If the players roll higher, or equal, they go first. Otherwise, the monsters go first.

1. Dramatic Initiative

The dungeon master might opt for this alternate method.

Players can choose to go in any order they wish. However, after each player action, an enemy will act.

Each round, each combatant can take one action. Then they must wait for the next round to act again.

3. Actions

1. Move: Move to an adjacent zone. (moving within a zone is free)
2. Attack: Make an attack with a weapon. See below.
3. Magic: Cast a spell or use a magic item. See Magic. You must not have taken damage this round in order to cast a spell.
4. Focus: Until the end of the next round, you have advantage on dodges, saves, attacks, and checks.

5. Sprint: Move twice. Make a constitution check. Make this check with disadvantage if you are wearing armor made of metal. If you fail, you are bad during the next round.

6. Stunts: Other maneuvers are stunts. See below.

4. Stunts

the idea of stunts encompasses grappling, tripping, and any other kind of creative option. Stunts may not cause damage directly, but can do about anything else.

How stunts are resolved is up to the dungeon master. These are provided as examples.

- Shove: a hit has a 3-in-6 chance of moving an enemy to an adjacent zone.
- Flinch: a hit allows creatures to move through the target's space.
- Sunder: a hit deals 1d4 damage to the weapon or armor.
- Disarm: a hit grants a dexterity check to disarm an enemy.
- Intimidation: with a successful charisma check, force enemies to make a moral check.

5. Attacking

1. Statistics

The Armor Class (AC) is how likely a target is to be hit.

The Attack Value (AV), also called THACO, is how likely an attack is to miss.

Lower AC and AV are better.

The Dungeon Master might either announce the result of the attack, or tell you the AC/AV so you can announce it yourself.

2. Making an Attack

To attack, subtract a d20 from your AV. If it is less than or equal to the AC, you hit. Otherwise, you miss.

Melee attacks have a range of touch. ranged attacks have a range distant (i.e. in adjacent zones or closer).

3. Dodging an Attack

To dodge an attack, roll a d20 and add your AC. If it is less than or equal to the AV, the attack is a miss. Otherwise, it is a hit

6. Exhaustion

At the end of the 9th round, and each round after, all creatures still involved in the combat take 1 damage.

7. Miscellaneous

1. Flanking

In melee, if one side surrounds the other, the surrounded side has a +4 penalty to AC.

2. Friendly Fire

When a ranged attack misses, players make a dexterity check to void hitting an ally. Monsters and minons have a 3-in-6 chance.

3. Mapping

During conflict, it's possible to reference a map, but adding to a map is impossible. The dungeon master will not make map calls. See mapping.

4. Subdual

If a creature is slain with a blunt weapon, they can be left non-leathally incapacitated, and bad until a shift.

Clean Up

1. Divide treasure

The quarter master totals the value of the treasure, and splits it between the players.

Money is typically split evenly, while magic items can be diced or bargained for.

2. Award Experience

The score keeper confers with the dungeon master to confirm each of the scores and their value. Then totals it and divides it by the surviving players.

See Experience for more details.

3. Funerals

See Death.

4. Evaluate Loyalty

Minions, if any, adjust their loyalty score.

1. If their boss chooses to pay their wages a second time, they gain one point.
2. If an animal or monster got to eat its favorite prey, they gain one point.
3. If a hireling died that session, non-monster hirelings with the same boss loose one point.
4. If a hireling or monster completed a goal, they gain one point.

5. They may gain or loose more points at the refereeâ€™s discretion.

Negotiation

1. When to Negotiate

Negotiation does not change an NPC's character. Instead, players convince an NPC that a certain course of action, is actually in character.

- Plausible request. Players need to write this down.
- NPC has reason not to immediately support the players.
- NPC wants to negotiate.

2. Statistics

The NPC has four stats: interest, patience, motivation, and pitfall.

1. Interest

Interest ranges from 0 to 5.

If interest reaches 5, the NPC makes an offer.

If interest reaches 0, the NPC ends the negotiation without an offer.

2. Patience

Patience ranges from 0 to 5, and can only be reduced. When patience reaches 0, the NPC makes a final offer.

3. Starting Stats

Attitude	Interest	Patience

Hostile	1	2
Neutral	2	3
Friendly	3	4

4. Motivation and Pitfall

When an argument appeals to a motivation without mentioning a pitfall, the result gets better. When it appeals to a pitfall, it gets worse.

Each NPC will have about three motivations and about two pitfalls.

1. Benevolence
2. Discovery
3. Freedom
4. Greed
5. Higher Authority
6. Justice
7. Legacy
8. Peace
9. Power
10. Protection
11. Revelry
12. Vengeance

3. Discovering Motivation (and Pitfalls)

A player can attempt a wisdom or intelligence check to check a particular motivation. If they succeed, the dungeon master will confirm whether it is a motivation, pitfall, or neither. However, if they fail, reduce patience by one.

Once the players make this check, they can not do so again until they make an argument

1. Other Methods

An NPC with interest 3 or more may hint at their motivations if asked.

Outside of negotiation can interrogate close friends, or otherwise preform recognisance.

4. Arguments

Players must make a full argument the NPC; that is, what the NPC should do, and why.

The dungeon master will determine if this appealed to any motivations or pitfalls.

If it appeals to a pitfall, the NPC looses one patience AND one interest.

Otherwise, one player will make a wisdom or charisma check. Compare the result on the table.

-	Motivation	Normal
Success	+1 interest.	+1 interest, -1 patience.
Failure	+1 interest, -1 patience.	-1 patience

1. Lying

If the argument contains a lie, and it fails to increase interest, the NPC catches it and is offended, loosing an additional patience.

5. Offers

After making an argument the NPC makes an offer based on their interest.

Interest	Offer
0	No, and...
1	No.
2	No, but...
3	Yes, but...
4	Yes.
5	Yes, and...

1. Keep Going?

If the NPC has remaining patience, and their interest is between 1 and 4, the players can choose to continue the negotiation, or accept the offer as is.

Challenge

1. Objective

At the start of a challenge, the dungeon master will announce the number of successes needed to complete the challenge. as well as the number of failures to fail the challenge.

2. Procedure

1. Players make action to confront the challenge, and how they will support each other.
2. Dungeon master will say which ability to use, and if it is risky.
3. The player makes the check, with advantage for each supporter.

3. Risky

Risky checks start with two disadvantages, and results in either two failures or two successes.

Appendix A - Additional Notes

1. Modification

The book is meant to act as a standard reference for how the Dungeon Master makes rulings. While the Dungeon Master's call is ultimently final, its recommended to stick to the book, and later change unsatisfactory rules. Yabec is open source, and available on Github.

If players don't like the rules, they should begin a conversation about how they would like the rule, and the kind of game they are interested in playing. When an agreement is made, it should be reflected in the book. If they have other games they are interested in playing, they should also bring those to the conversation. /gen

The book also acts as a suggest stock of rulings. If the Dungeon Master should be able to appeal to the book, and get a simple but opinionated rule. The new rule should not disrupt the flow of play, but rather maintain it. If the rule turns unfun, it should be ammended via the above process.

2. Metagaming Comment

I have a lax approach to metagaming. Any info gained during the session is valid, including;

- Info from dead characters.
- Deduced AC and Hit Dice.

What would be metagaming would be searching the internet for answers, or reading the adventure source books.

This comment is meant to give the superflous mechanical permision to do this.

Appendix B - The West Marches

Life in the walled city is safe. Beyond its barrier is the WEST MARCHES, where monsters roam and acient treasure lay.

West marches is a style of play. There is an open fantasy world, maintained by one or more dungeon masters. Players organize freely into adventuring parties, exploring where they may. At least three players are needed to run, but ideally four to six. Dungeon mastes may be prepared to run for as many as a dozen players. Players should be enterprising, conspiring to meet and secure valuable treasure,sharing bits of lore and secrets with eachother.

Systems

Italics indicate a keyword within the rules. Systems are collections of mechanics that aren't isolated to a specific scheme.

1. bad: A generalized status condition.
2. distance: Each room is a zones.
3. experience: Some events score XP.
4. inventory: Players can hold about ten items.
5. life: Once players take more damage than health, they might die.
6. light: The distance and effects of light.
7. mapping: Details exact map calls.
8. noise: The distance and effect of noise.
9. roles: Pre-made roles for players to make the game smoother.
10. rolls: Different types of die rolls.

1. Appendix

1. Additional Notes: Comments on the rules.
2. West Marches: Comment on a style of play.

Bad

Bad is a monolithic, generalized status conditions.

Attacks against bad targets always succeed.

Bad creatures can:

- Hear.
- Speak.
- Save.
- Take desperate actions: For example, move randomly in the dark, or move inches while bound.

Bad creatures can not:

- Move.
- Attack.
- Cast spells.
- Use magic items.
- Use class skills.

Depending on the exact condition, Bad creatures might be able to take some limited action. For example, a blind creature may be able to move randomly, or a bound character might work to break out of their restraints.

Distance

1. Zones

The dungeon environment is split into zones. As a rule of thumb, each room and hallway is a zone. Large rooms or hallways may be multipole zones.

1. Guidelines

- Architecture: Architectural features, such as doorways, should divide zones.
- 40': Rooms bigger than 40', and hallways longer than 40', should be multiple zones.
- Even: Large rooms and hallways should have their zones divided evenly.
- Whole Number: Large rooms and hallways should always have a whole number of zones.

2. Difficult Terrain

The first attempt to move out of difficult terrain fails. i.e. it takes two moves to pass through.

3. Ranges

Ranges and relative location are divided into four ranges.

1. Touch

Striking distance.

2. Close

Throwing distance. Speaking distance. With in the same or adjacent zone.

3. Distant

Shouting distance. Upto 2 zones away. Farthest distance to make out details (in bright light).

In dark environments, the player's torch will often be the limit of their sight. This means that anything within torch light is distant.

4. Sight

Anything that can be seen. Up to 3 miles in ideal conditions.

Experience

This chapter covers experience points (XP) and how it is awarded. XP is a measure of a PC's power and wealth, and creates progression.

1. Score Card

At the start of the session, the Score Keeper will begin a score card: a simple piece of paper to write down scores as they happen.

At the end of the session, the Score Keeper will confer with the dungeon master to confirm each score, and establish the total amount of XP.

XP is divided evenly between all surviving characters. The Score Keeper will announce the individual amount gained.

1. Minions

If a player is 2nd level or higher, their minions gain the same amount of XP.

2. Variant Rule: Prime Requisite

Each class has one or two prime requisites, which grants bonus XP for having a high ability score.

Characters with at least a 9 in one prime requisite gain 5% extra XP.

Characters with at least a 9 in both gain 15% extra XP.

Characters with at least a 16 in one prime requisite gain 15% extra XP.

2. Scores

A score is anything that awards XP.

1. Treasure

Recovering treasure from a dungeon scores 1 XP per 1 cp value of the treasure.

Recovering a magic item scores 1000 XP.

2. Optional: Defeated Monster

Defeating monsters scores XP based on their HD, plus a bonus for each special ability. E.g. a 2 HD monster with an ability is worth 25 XP.

HD	Base	Bonus
<1	5	1
1	10	3
2	20	5
3	35	15
4	75	50
5, 6,	300	250
7, 8,	650	550
â%¥9	1000	700

3. Optional: Challenge

Completing a challenge scores 100 XP times the number of successes.

4. Roles

Having players with roles during clean up scores 25 XP for each unique role. Duplicate roles score 10 xp.

5. Goal

Achieving a goal scores 100 XP per character involved.

Failing to achieve a goal scores -300 XP.

6. Mapping

Exactly mapping a complete dungeon level scores XP equal to 1000 times the depth of the level.

3. Extra Sources of XP

1. Taking a role in town

Taking on a role in town can score immediately XP.

2. Session Report

Writing a session report scores 100 XP to the writer at the start of the next session.

4. Leveling Up

When a character gains enough XP to reach the next experience level:

- Looks at your class progression tables and notes any improvements in saves, AV, spells, etc.
- Roll a number of HD equal to your level. If it is grater than you current HP, that is your new HP. Otherwise, increase your HP by one.

- Increase one ability score by 1, to a maximum of 18. At 9th and 14th level, you may instead increase one ability with an 18 to a 20.
- Gain an additional downtime.

1. One Session Maximum

Characters cannot advance more than one level in one session. Leave the character 1 XP below the threshold for the next level. The remaining XP can be distributed among the other characters, as the player wishes. If all characters are 1 XP below the threshold, extra XP is wasted.

5. Abandonment

A character of 2nd level or higher can be abandoned. They permanently leave the game. Abandoned characters can leave 50% of their wealth and 80% of their XP to a new character.

Item Slots

In order to carry an item, the character must have a free item slot to carry it.

- Heavy Items: Two slots.
- Small Items: Five per slot.
- Person or body: Three slots.
- Other Items: One slot.

1. Number

A character has a base of tenslots, plus a bonus from their constitution.

Chests and carts can be used to carry even more. Minions also have item slots, typically five.

1. Encumbrance

Becoming encumbered doubles a creature's slots. Encumbered creatures are bad, but can attack with disadvantage, and move at half speed.

2. Horses

A horse can carry a person and their items, OR pull a cart.

Noises

The are two kinds of noise:

1. Silent

Produces effectively no sound; no effect.

2. Loud

Heard by distant listeners. Increases the chance of wandering monsters. Etc.

Hidden

If no one is alerted to you, you are hidden.

1. Alert

The following will alert monsters.

- Being seen
- Creating loud noises.
- Casting dim or bright light.

Life and Death

This section covers health, damage, and dying.

Unlike many games which count HP down, Yabec counts damage up.

1. Health Points

Health points (HP) represent the ability to withstand injury and exhaustion.

1. Health Die (HD)

Health dice are used to determine HP. Each class has a different HD. Monsters have a d8 HD.

At 1st level, a character's HP is equal to the highest value on their HD.

2. Damage

Damage represents injury, exhaustion, and wear.

1. Slain

When a creature takes damage equal to or greater tan its HP, it is slain, Slain minions and ordinary monsters instantly die. Slain PCs and powerful monsters are near death. See below.

Destruction

If slain by fire, or explosion, items are destroyed, and PCs and powerful monsters instantly die. Magic items have a chance of miraculously surviving.

2. Item Damage

Some items can become damaged. Items with four or more damage break completely. Magic items are immune to damage.

Each point of damage incurs a penalty:

- Weapons: -1 to damage rolls.
- Armor: +1 to AC.
- Other: -1 to any rolls made with it.

Dwarves are able to repair items as downtime.

3. Healing

Healing removes damage.

1. Magical Healing

Magic potions or spells can provide instantaneous healing.

When magically healing a near death character, they dismember with advantage.

2. Bandage

Bandages can be used to gain some healing. Make an intelligence check. If you succeed, heal the target 1d6, plus a bonus from your wisdom. See ability scores. You may bandage yourself.

Bandaging consumes a bandage. Once you are bandaged, you can not be bandaged again until you are damaged.

4. Near Death

After a full turn near death, creatures die.

If a creature takes any damage while near death, they dismember.

Creatures near death are bad.

1. Healing

When healed while near death, a creature instead rolls for dismemberment. If healed by magic, they roll with advantage.

2. Dismemberment

Roll a d12, and add constitution score. Reference the table. If they survive, they heal 1.

Result	Dismemberment
<= 6	Dead!
7	Mostly dead: Until dully healed, you can only be healed magically.
8-13	Broken rib: -1d4 constitution
14	Broken leg: +2 AC
15	Lost arm: Can't use two-handed weapons nor shields.
16	Lost eye: If you loose both eyes, you are blind.
17	Concussion: -1d4 wisdom and intelligence
18	Torn muscle: -1d4 dexterity
19	Bone fracture: -1d4 strength
>=20	Miraculously Unharmed

5. After Death

1. Burial

Simple burial prevents the body from being reanimated.

Temples will bury and bless the dead for free.

Cremation prevents reanimation and is impossible to undo.

If a cleric uses one turn to preform a blessing, the soul will pass peacefully.

6. Funeral

When a character is buried in town, a funeral can be given. For each cp spent on the funeral, that player gains 1 XP. In addition, all players that attend the funeral gain XP equal to 10% of the total cp spent.

The maximum total cp that can be spent is equal to the dying characters XP.

When funerary rites are preformed, the character sheet must be ripped up. Players are encouraged to give eulogy, play music, and create intricate rituals.

1. Inheritance

Money and items stored in town will be subject to a 15% estate tax to local government or temple, and then inherited by the next of kin or listed heir.

2. Resurrection

Returning from death is an ordeal. Until the subject gets two weeks of bed rest, they have 1 HP, move at half the normal rate, can not carry heavy items, cannot attack, cast spells, or use class skills.

Each time a character is resurrected, their constitution is reduced by 1.

3. New Character

As soon as you have a new character sheet, they can join the adventure anytime the party is in town.

7. Low Ability Score

If a character has an ability score reduced to less than three, they die.

Light

1. Levels

There are three kinds of light:

1. Dark

The darkness is pitch black, and prevents sight. Impasses blindness.

2. Dim

Allows some detail to be seen.

3. Bright

Allows full vision, including details and reading. Disables infravision.

2. Distance

A light source casts bright light within touch, and dim within distant.

3. Infravision

A special type of vision had by many monsters: seeing heat energy that radiates of living things.

When a creature with infravision stands in bright, they are blinded for one round, and their infravision is disabled until they spend a full turn in the dark.

It is not possible to read in the dim or dark with infravision.

4. Blindness

Creatures who are unable to perceive their surroundings are bad.

Mapping

Dungeons are complex environments where it is easy to get lost. Keeping a map is essential. Its recommended that one player take on the role of Mapper. See Roles.

GFC's video "SPEEDY DUNGEON MAPS in D&D! GIT GUD at CALLING YOUR MAPS!" is a perfect explanation of dungeon mapping.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=prijs0I3xWs

A text version of this system is available on the web version of Yabec.

1. Simple Method

Rather than track the exact dimensions of every room, the mapper might opt to keep a general shape of the dungeon.

The mapper draws a loose flow chart, labeling rooms and their connections.

Player Roles

Using roles makes play smoother and easier for the dungeon master.

In addition to potentially being a score for the party, taking on a role during town scores awards 50 XP to that character. 150 XP for callers and mappers.

Its possible to have multiple of most roles. For example, there can be a caller for exploration and a caller for combat, or two mappers that check each other's work.

1. Mapper

Keep track of the layout of the dungeon. If you'd like, ask the Dungeon Master for exact map calls. See mapping.

2. Caller

Get consensus on what the party would like to do, and communicate to the Dungeon Master.

3. Chair

Make sure that all the roles are filled.

4. Score Keeper

Keep track of scores, such as looted treasure, and defeated monsters. See experience.

5. Scribe

Keep track of the different monsters and traps, their behaviors, mechanics, and even their combat statistics (depending on the Dungeon Master's approach to metagaming).

6. Quarter Master

Keep track of torches, bandages, and other equipment. Keep track of loot as it collected.

Rolls

This page details a lot of different kinds of rolls.

1. Abilities

There are six abilities: strength, dexterity, constitution, intelligence, wisdom, and charisma. They're rated from 3, the worst, to 18, the best.

1. Checking

You succeed if d20 <= the ability score. (low roll good)

2. Saves

All characters and monsters can make saves to avoid the full effects of certain traps, spells, and attacks.

Having a lower save value is better.

1. Categories:

There are five saving throw categories: - Death (D): When targeted by a death ray, or exposed to poison. - Weird (W): When exposed to radiation or other worlds. - Paralysis or Petrification (P): When targeted by an effect that paralyses or turns to stone. - Blast (B): When target by dragon breath or explosions. - Spells or magic (S) When targeted by a baneful spell or effect from a magic item.

Your class's progression table determines you save values.

2. Checking

You succeed if d20 >= save value. (high roll good)

Success against an effect that causes damage means that the damage is halved. Otherwise, the effect has been entirely avoided or negated.

3. Advantage and Disadvantage

1. Advantage

When making a roll with advantage, roll an additional time for each advantage. Take the best roll.

2. Disadvantage

When making a roll with disadvantage, roll twice and take the worse.

3. Combination.

One disadvantage and one advantage cancel out.

4. Variant Rule: Heroism

Push yourself. Take 2 damage or reduce you constitution score by one. Choose one:

- Gain advantage on one check.
- Take an action dispite bad with disadvantage.
